Violence Against Children In Tanzania
1. Background

- World Report recommended national data collection and research

- Tanzania is the first country in Africa to undertake A National Study on Violence against Children - giving national estimates on the magnitude of sexual, physical and emotional violence affecting girls and boys
2. The Process

Planning process for the Tanzania Violence against Children Study started in mid 2008.

- Multisectoral Task Force (MSTF) was conceived in September 2008, which consists of representatives from government ministries and partners including the police and justice sectors, social welfare, education and health care sectors; the UN and CSOs.

- UNICEF Tanzania coordinated the process, while technical guidance and assistance provided by the Centre for Disease Control and Prevention’s (CDC) Division of Violence Prevention.
...the process...

- Muhimbili University of Health and Allied Sciences (MUHAS) was selected as the local research partner and main implementer of the study – placing all study activities within the country’s main school of medicine and public health.

- The MSTF - chaired by the Ministry of Community Development Gender and Children (MCDGC) and the Task Force - ensured national ownership and oversight in building support for a comprehensive National Prevention and Response Plan to address findings of the study.
...the process

- October 2009 - survey field work
- July 2010 - Preliminary VAC results
- August 2011 - Official launch
3. Objectives of the study

- Describe the magnitude of the problem of violence against children with special emphasis on sexual violence
- Identify potential risk and protective factors for VAC
- Identify the health consequences of VAC
- Assess knowledge of and utilization of health services available for child victims of sexual violence and other forms of violence
- Use date to guide policies and programs to prevent and protect children from violence
- To identify further research needs

6. Moving Research into Action:

-MSTF agreed Priority Responses across 7 key sectors: the Police, Justice, Education, Health and Social Welfare, HIV and AIDS, Local Government, Community Development (Gender and Children)

-The Task Force has developed a three year National Plan of Action to Prevent and Respond to Violence against Children (2012 – 2015) that builds on the Government’s Priority Responses across the above key sectors.

-Civil Society priority interventions will be coordinated through the Tanzania Child Rights Forum
National Plan of Action to Prevent and Respond to Violence against Children: Priority Responses

- Ensure lawyers, judges, police, social workers and other professionals are trained and understand their obligations to protect children, under the Law of the Child Act
- Set up Gender and Children’s Desks in all police stations staffed by trained police officers sensitive to children and families affected by violence
- Ensure all health care providers and Social Welfare Officers receive capacity building and skills training on case management
- Expand adoption of safe school and teaching practices
- Strengthening community response mechanisms, including operationalizing a national Child Helpline
- Scale up establishment of Child Protection Systems in all Districts to provide essential services for prevention, recovery and reintegration
- Ensure all HIV and AIDS Prevention, Care & Treatment Programmes address sexual abuse and violence
- Addressing and challenging social norms through behavioral change and communication campaigns
7. Concluding remarks:

• Translating the social dynamics and risks factors that underpin the problem of VAC into effective messages linked to prevention and services to protect children will be a key focus in years to come.

• The Government of URTZ will ensure that violence prevention and child protection are best addressed through a systematic and effective engagement of all relevant sectors and levels of public administration from health, education and sports to social affairs, from justice and home affairs to planning and finance.
...concluding remarks

• GoT is committed to the implementation of the 4 years NAP to prevent and respond to VAC by creating an enabling policy and legislative environ. To establish sustainable interventions to prevent and respond to violence.

• We will count on the commitment of our national and international partners to achieve this goal.
