

CHILDREN AS PEACEBUILDERS

Children engaging and supporting their peers, including reaching the most vulnerable

Sub-Saharan Africa: Cameroon

Through Children 4 Peace, children are acting as peace builders, through peacebuilding clubs in schools. CSO helps build the capacity of their girl leaders, and through them they work with children out-of-school, as they're the most marginalized. The model is focused on girl and child led advocacy.

COVID has meant major difficulties in reaching the children they work with, as they're not online and are at precarious situation. They meet online with their focal points - these girl leaders - who then go back to their communities and reach children.
