

CHILDREN TRAINING THEIR PEERS ON SEXUAL AND REPRODUCTIVE HEALTH RIGHTS

Children Engaging And Supporting Their Peers,
Including Reaching The Most Vulnerable

Sub-Saharan Africa: Sierra Leone

In Sierra Leone, 'Tinap (Stand) for Development Sierra Leone' is an organization that focuses on sexual and reproductive health and rights. Children receive training and information on issues affecting them, including female genital mutilation (FGM), teenage pregnancy, and child marriage. The trained and empowered children are then able to educate their peers and advocate for these issues through the media.
