

AN ONLINE PLATFORM FOR CHILDREN TO EXPRESS THEMSELVES AND INFLUENCE DECISION-MAKERS

Children Innovating, Creating And Expressing

Europe, North America, and Others: United Kingdom

In the UK, children are able to use a safe digital space through VoiceBox to showcase their voices through a variety of formats, including art, poetry, articles, videos, and more, and influence decision-making processes regarding the content they are exposed to online. Children's creations are published on topics they want to discuss, from LGBTQ+ support to their hobbies and goals in life. Beyond the content platform, children inform youth consultation research. The important topics that children want to hear about are then forwarded to organizations and policymakers. The organizations and decision-makers are able to hear directly from children through VoiceBox. The goal is to mend the gap between the lived experiences of children and the policies and products they consume.
